Creating Capacity in Times of Change

Louise STOLL

A new coalition government came into power in England in May 2010 and published its policy White Paper in November 2010. The policy heralds significant change for schools and school leaders in a time of economic recession. This paper explores issues, opportunities and imperatives faced by leaders. Drawing on a range of research, evaluation and research and development projects, the paper will explore the elements of capacity that appear most significant to successful change in English schools at this point in time.
