

Dr David GURR

University of Melbourne, Australia

Email: d.gurr@edfac.unimelb.edu.au

David Gurr has a background in secondary teaching, educational psychology, school supervision, and research in educational leadership. His career in education spans nearly 30 years. He is a senior lecturer in educational leadership within the Melbourne Graduate School of Education at the University of Melbourne. He is a member of the International Successful School Principalship Project (ISSPP). David is co-editor with Chris Day of the fourth ISSPP book, Leading Schools Successfully: Stories from the field. He has published extensively with more than 100 local and international publications. David is actively involved with the Australian Council for Educational Leaders having served on both the Victorian and national committees, including several years as the national vice president (publications and research), and through publication work as the past editor of Hot Topics, Monograph and Leading and Managing. He was made a fellow of the Victorian branch of the ACEL in 1999, a national fellow in 2006, awarded the National Presidential Citation for 2004, and awarded the Hedley Beare Educator of the Year in 2012.

