Email: lujf@ied.edu.hk

Dr Lu is Assistant Professor at the Department of Education Policy & Leadership (EPL) and Joseph Lau Luen Hung Charitable Trust Asia Pacific Centre for Leadership & Change (APCLC), the Hong Kong Institute of Education. Her doctoral degree was in Applied Psychology, and her work has been published at both educational and general management journals such as Educational Review, Management Learning, Journal of Occupational Health Psychology, Journal of Vocational Behavior, and Stress & Health.

Dr. Lu is currently working on three lines of educational research:

1. Leadership and managerial predictors of teachers' work engagement and instructional innovation;
2. the dynamics of school top management teams; and
3. leadership development, especially the application of computer simulation in training and cooperative learning.

She is looking forward to collaborating with educational researchers sharing similar research interests.
