

Course Title	:	Understanding Juvenile Delinquency 青少年犯罪問題初探
Course Code	:	GEG1032
Department	:	Education Policy and Leadership

Synopsis

This course intends to explore how young people and crime has been understood. Students will be introduced to the nature and different context of juvenile delinquency, specifically in the areas of why and how delinquent behaviour occurred and how various social agencies, including school and the criminal justice system, have responded to it. Students will be encouraged to consider as well as to assess the wider roles of the family, the media and the community in creating and preventing juvenile delinquency.
