

Bio

Dr. Zhiyong Zhu

Associate Professor, Beijing Normal University, China

E-mail: zzy@bnu.edu.cn

Dr. Zhiyong Zhu is an Associate Professor in the College of Educational Administration at Beijing Normal University. Dr. Zhu specializes in sociology of education in ethnic minority education, rural education, school management and social development. He has participated in several international and national projects concerning school management. He was awarded the prestigious Fulbright New Century Scholarship from the United States Department of the State (2007-2008) in higher education access and equity study. He published State Schooling and Ethnic Identity: The Politics of a Tibetan Neidi Secondary School in China (Lexington Books, 2007). He co-edited Social Development and Change: Theory and Practice and 'Golden Key' Education Theory and Practice for the Visually Impaired. He translated Jeanne H. Ballantine's The Sociology of Education: a Systematic Analysis into Chinese in 2005 and now is translating Patricia J. Gumport's Sociology of Higher Education: Contributions and Contexts. He is an advisory committee member of the journal Chinese Education and Society. He published numerous journal papers in Chinese and English.