

Educational Reform and Change in the Asia Pacific Region

Long and Hard Pathway to Modern Educational Administration: Brief Review of the Educational Administration Change of Basic Education in China (1949-2009)

Hongqi Chu

This article reviews the administration development of basic education in China since 1940s. Besides, the article offers a brief discussion on it from scientific (or rational), democratic and legal perspectives. The administration development of basic education since 1940s, as a kind of modernization process in new China period, has gains and lessons. Nowadays, it has been on the right track.

