

ASIA LEADERSHIP ROUNDTABLE

BANGKOK
2011

Educational Reform and Change in the Asia Pacific Region

Do Huy Think
SEAMEO Regional Training Center

Dr. Do Huy Think has been working in the field of education and culture over the past three decades. His most recent jobs were in higher education in the capacity of Dean of School of Foreign Studies and Director of Center for Foreign Studies at Nong Lam University (formerly the University of Agriculture and Forestry), Thu Duc, Ho Chi Minh City, Vietnam. He is keen on a combination of theory and practice in education and information dissemination through teaching, research, faculty and student exchange, cultural and language exchange, and regional and international understanding and cooperation. His areas of expertise include educational leadership and management, especially in higher education, quality assurance and accreditation, international and comparative education, lifelong learning and instructional methodology.

Dr. Do Huy Think received his Bachelor of Arts in English at the University of Ho Chi Minh City, and afterward, a post-graduate Diploma in Teaching English to Speakers of Other Languages (TESOL) from the University of Canberra, Australia. In the early 90s, he was selected as a Fulbright scholar and chose to study at the University of Southern California. From this university, he earned his Master's and Ph.D. degrees in educational policy and administration with emphasis on international higher education. Dr. Do Huy Think is a member of international professional organizations such as TESOL Inc., American Educational Research Association, Comparative and International Education Society, NAFSA, TEFL Asia and so on. Dr. Do Huy Think has been the Director of SEAMEO Regional Training Center in Vietnam since 2003. Furthermore, he is also the founding President of the TESOL-HCMC Association. He has been appointed as associate professor by Vietnam's National Academic Titles Commission since 2003, as an adjunct professor at Curtin University of Technology, Australia, since 2008, and as a research associate at Tsukuba University, Japan since 2010.

