Hi, I am Assistant Professor at the Joseph Lau Luen Hung Charitable Trust Asia Pacific Center for Leadership & Change (APCLC) and Department of Education Policy & Leadership (EPL), the Hong Kong Institute of Education. My doctoral degree was in Applied Psychology. By far, my work has been published at journals such as Educational Review, Management Learning, Journal of Occupational Health Psychology, Journal of Vocational Behavior, and Stress & Health.

I am currently working on three lines of educational research: 1) individual, managerial, and occupational associates of teachers' quality of work life, as manifested in work engagement and work-family integration; 2) the dynamics of school top management teams; and 3) the development and application of computer simulation in training. I look forward to collaborating with researchers sharing similar research interests.
