

Prof. Chris Chapman

University of Glasgow

UK

E. Chris.Chapman@glasgow.ac.uk

Professor Christopher Chapman PhD is Co-Director of the Robert Owen Centre for Educational Change at the University of Glasgow and also of What Works Scotland, a major £3m three year ESRC/Government funded programme of research exploring public service reform. Professor Chapman has led over 50 research projects for research councils, charities, governments and other funders. He is also a Senior Academic Advisor to Scottish Government and a member of the First Minister's International Council of Education Advisors.

He is a key architect of collaborative approaches to system reform including- Making Educational Work for All and the School Improvement Partnership Programme. He has over 100 publications in the areas of leadership, improvement and change including External Intervention for School Improvement (2005) and Leading School Based Networks (2010) and the Routledge International Handbook of Educational Effectiveness and Improvement (2016).

7

AS&A LEADERSHIP ROUNDTABLE 2017 | 亞太領導圓桌會議二零一七

years on: The state of the Asian knowledge base?
年以來亞太教育領導知識基礎述評

Taipei 台北