LEADING THE WAY FORWARD

YIN Dean Chen Jason
Graduate of 2015
Bachelor in Biology (University of California, Davis), Master of Public Health (London School of Hygiene and Tropical Medicine); currently a researcher at the Li Ka Shing Faculty of Medicine, The University of Hong Kong

This programme helped me learn about perspectives on policy and management practices in the Greater China Region, and gave me the necessary tools to analyze and solve policy-related problems. The small faculty-to-student ratio also made it so that we were able to participate freely during class discussions and collaborate closely with professors. Outside of the classroom, there were many opportunities to be involved in the school. I conducted research with Dr. Alex He Jingwei, a renowned scholar in health and social policy, and was also able to assist with international conferences and plan activities.

YIM Ching Wai Victor
Graduate of 2015
PhD in Arts, Asia Institute, The University of Melbourne (Awardee of the Melbourne Research Scholarship)

My pursuit of peace and sustainability resonates strongly with my own values and principles in life. Not only does the programme offer cutting-edge knowledge in relation to policies and public management practices in the Greater China Region, it also has an outstanding line-up of scholars who are keen to provide academic as well as personal advice to students, debunking the “urban Myth” that scholars cannot live outside of the ivory tower.

Mark Raygan E. Garcia
Graduate of 2017
Communications and Engagement Officer, Li Po Chun United World College, Hong Kong

The programme developed my critical thinking and analytical skills. It enhanced my consciousness of the rich interplay of socio-cultural, political and economic issues that define peoples and governments. And it connected me to “Hong Kong life”, and gave me a home – my mentors and classmates became part of my journey ahead. I am now a Communications and Engagement Officer at Li Po Chun United World College, a multi-culturally diverse international IB boarding school based in Ma On Shan, of which pursuit of peace and sustainability resonates strongly with my own values and principles in life.
