We are looking for suitable candidate(s) to fill the following position(s). If you are excited by the prospect of contributing your expertise to the development of a leading university at the heart of Asia Pacific region and beyond, we would like to hear from you.

Research Assistant Professor (Ref: 2201050)
Department of Special Education and Counselling
Faculty of Education and Human Development

Departments in the Faculty of Education and Human Development (FEHD) are seeking to appoint Research Assistant Professors whose expertise is aligned to one or more of the FEHD strategic research themes, with particular reference to:

- 1) Capacity building for the education workforce
- 2) Parent and community engagement in education
- 3) Equity, ethics and inclusion
- 4) Child/youth mental health and wellbeing

The Department of Special Education and Counselling is aiming to recruit candidates with expertise of particular relevance to themes 3 and 4 above. The appointee will be expected to contribute to the profile of the Department, Faculty and University by advancing scholarship in either/both of these strategic research themes.

Responsibilities include: (i) conducting research, independently and within collaborative teams at Department and Faculty level; (ii) initiating and leading research projects, including securing external research grants (e.g., ECS/GRF); (iii) disseminating research findings, including producing sole and co-authored publications in high quality peer-reviewed journals; (iv) contributing to local, national and international academic and professional organisations; (v) undertaking some teaching duties at undergraduate and/or postgraduate levels, and/or supervision of postgraduate students; and (vi) actively participating in the University community at Department and Faculty levels.

Applicants should have completed a doctoral degree in a related discipline, have a publication track record commensurate with the level of appointment, and ideally will have held at least one external appointment at postdoctoral level (eg, postdoctoral fellow, assistant professor or similar). Applicants with experience working in interdisciplinary and/or international research contexts are particularly encouraged to apply.

For information on the Faculty, please visit <https://www.eduhk.hk/fehd/en/>.

For information on the Department, please visit <https://www.eduhk.hk/sec/en/>.

Salary will be commensurate with qualifications and experience.

Initial appointment will be made on a fixed-term contract. Start-up research grant will be provided. Fringe benefits include contract-end gratuity, leave, medical and dental benefits, and life insurance.

The University only accepts and considers applications submitted online for this post. Applicants should complete the online application form specifying the strategic research theme(s) in which he/she wishes to engage and upload a full CV. Review of applications will start from 31 October 2022, and will continue until the post is filled. Applications which are incomplete or without the required documents may not be considered. Personal data provided by applicants will be used for recruitment and other employment-related purposes. For details of the Personal Information Collection Statement, please refer to <http://www.eduhk.hk/jobsoff/index.php?glang=en>.

All applications will be treated in strict confidence. Only those who are shortlisted will be contacted. The University reserves the right not to fill the position(s) advertised. Since the incumbent's work would involve contacts with persons aged under 18 and/or mentally incapacitated persons, prospective employee(s) will be required to undergo Sexual Conviction Record Check operated by the Hong Kong Police Force.
