- Assisting with research activities including literature reviews, data collection, analysis, and manuscript writing
- Supporting the development of grant applications, panel surveys, and experimental designs
- Managing administrative tasks such as ethics approvals, procurement, and other university procedures
- Performing other duties as assigned by the PI

Requirements

- Bachelor's Degree or above in Information Systems, Social Science, Human-Computer Interaction, or a related field, with a strong interest in esports, gaming, or digital media research
- Self-motivated, responsible, well-organized, and eager to learn and adapt, with proficiency in written and spoken English
- Familiarity with at least one statistical tool (e.g., SPSS, R, SmartPLS) or computational method (e.g., web crawling)
- Show initiative in pursuing independent research, with room for collaborative opportunities upon mutual agreement
- Experience with grant applications, ethics approvals, or project management is a plus

What You Will Gain

- Authorship opportunities on publications and conference presentations, commensurate with contribution
- Opportunities to explore and develop your own research ideas
- Mentorship in academic writing, research methodologies, and career planning
