香港教育大學
The Education University of Hong Kong

Founded in 1994 and awarded the University title in 2016, The Education University of Hong Kong (EdUHK) is a publicly funded university, dedicated to the advancement of teacher education and related disciplines through a diverse offering of academic, professional and research programmes. The University aspires to become a leading university in the Asia Pacific region and beyond, with a focus on educational and multidisciplinary research, development and innovation. We are committed to nurturing outstanding and caring educators and professionals as well as enhancing the impact of scholarship.

The University has an academic/teaching staff strength of about 460 and total student headcount of about 11,000. It has a Graduate School and three Faculties, namely, Faculty of Education and Human Development, Faculty of Humanities, and Faculty of Liberal Arts and Social Sciences, comprising 14 academic departments, as well as two Academies, Academy for Educational Development and Innovation and Academy for Applied Policy Studies and Education Futures, a number of University-level research centres and Faculty-level research and professional development centres. For more information about the University, please visit http://www.eduhk.hk.

To continue pursuing excellence in the advancement of knowledge, scholarship and innovation through high quality research, we are seeking enthusiastic and highly dedicated academics to join the University in support of its strategic development in diverse areas.

Assistant Professor - English Language Teaching and Learning / Educational Technology and Language Learning (Ref: 2600998)
Department of English Language Education
Faculty of Humanities

An Assistant Professor post is vacant in the Department of English Language Education at the Education University of Hong Kong. The Department has around 25 academic and teaching staff who provide teaching and supervision to the undergraduate and postgraduate degree programmes in the Faculty of Humanities and the University. The successful candidates will play a key role in the development and delivery of the Department's new Master of Arts in AI and Technology in Language Learning (MAATLL), an innovative programme focusing on critical AI-enhanced language learning, digital pedagogies, language assessment, learning design, ethics, and educational innovation.

The successful candidate is expected to do research that leads to successful grant proposals and publications in recognized refereed journals. S/he will also develop, evaluate and teach in programmes at both undergraduate and postgraduate levels, provide guidance to students as academic adviser, supervise students on teaching practice, and contribute to other service and leadership activities as assigned by the Head of Department.

Applicants should have a doctoral degree in English language teaching and learning, educational technology and language learning, applied linguistics (with a focus on education), or a related field. Priority will be given to candidates with demonstrated research expertise and teaching experience in one or more of the following areas: AI-enhanced language learning and assessment; educational technology; digital literacies; learning analytics; human-computer interaction; instructional design; multimodal communication; critical AI studies; AI ethics; technology-mediated communication; and teacher education for AI-enhanced learning.

Successful candidates should have at least three years of relevant teaching experience at tertiary level and must submit evidence of excellence in teaching (such as teaching evaluations, teaching awards and fellowships, and/or pedagogic innovations). They should also submit evidence of research publications in the relevant field(s), and their plans for future development.

For information on the Department, please visit: http://www.eduhk.hk/ele/

For further enquiries about the posts, please contact Head of Department, Prof Hans J. Ladegaard, at hjladegaard@eduhk.hk

---

Salary will be commensurate with qualifications and experience.

Initial appointment will be made on a fixed-term contract. Fringe benefits include the University's Voluntary Contributions to MPF Scheme or a contract-end lump sum payment (totaling up to 15% of the basic salary), leave, medical and dental benefits, and, where applicable, housing benefits.

The University only accepts and considers applications submitted online for this post. Applicants should complete the online application form and upload a full CV on or before 14 December 2026. Applications which are incomplete or without the required documents may not be considered. Personal data provided by applicants will be used for recruitment and other employment-related purposes. For details of the Personal Information Collection Statement, please refer to http://www.eduhk.hk/jobsopp/index.php?glang=en.

All applications will be treated in strict confidence. Only those who are shortlisted will be contacted. The University reserves the right not to fill the position(s) advertised. Since the incumbent's work would involve contacts with persons aged under 18 and/or mentally incapacitated persons, prospective employee(s) will be required to undergo Sexual Conviction Record Check operated by the Hong Kong Police Force.

EdUHK is an Equal Opportunities Employer.