Course Title : Group Dynamics and Group Skills
Course Code : COU3012
Department : Special Education and Counselling

Synopsis
The module provides a basic introduction to group process and group counselling. Various theoretical approaches as well as fundamental skills to group practice will be explored. The class will blend theory and practice by meeting as an experiential group. Participants will learn and experience being a group leader as well as being a group member in the Hong Kong school contexts. Professional ethics of group counseling will be adhered to while planning and implementing the group.