

Excellence in Teaching Award

Dr. CHEUNG Ka Luen

Department of Mathematics and Information Technology

Dr. Cheung Ka Luen (middle) is presented with the Excellence in Teaching Award by the President and Faculty Dean at the First Assembly on 7 Sep 2011.

Dr. Cheung Ka Luen is an expert in nonlinear partial differential equations, mathematics problem solving, and the geometric thinking used in problem solving. His dedication to the planning and organization of course materials for his teaching is highly appreciated. He spends considerable time and puts great efforts in systematically preparing teaching materials and searching diverse resources to enrich his teaching. He is able to contextualize mathematics knowledge in real life context through examples and practical applications, and encourage his students to pursue the pleasure of thinking for themselves in logical and creative ways. He is also proactive in the participation of research projects, with an aim to ensuring learning outcomes could accommodate the real needs of students. He is highly respected by his students and colleagues.

Certificate of Merit

Ms. CHAN Wing Sum

Department of Mathematics and Information Technology

Ms. Chan Wing Sum is an industrious teaching practitioner who is always very well-prepared for her classes. She is well-recognized for her whole-hearted support to facilitate her students' learning. To facilitate students' understanding of abstract mathematical concepts, she deliberately creates special teaching aids for demonstration.

Dr. LAW Kam Yee

Department of Social Sciences

Dr. Law Kam Yee, whose expertise is political sociology and political economy of Asian countries, is consistently enthusiastic about teaching and student learning. Comments from students show that he is passionate about his teaching, well-prepared for his lectures, and can inspire students' interests in different topics.

Dr. LEE Yeung Chung

Department of Mathematics Science and Environmental Studies

Dr. Lee Yeung Chung (middle) is presented with the Certificate of Merit by the President and Faculty Dean at the First Assembly on 7 Sep 2011.

Dr. Lee Yeung Chung is a teacher educator in science education. Underpinning his commitment is a strong belief that teaching and learning are two inter-related process of which good teaching facilitates better learning and better learning subsequently stimulates better teaching. He integrates field visits, co-curricular activities and other practical experiments into normal classroom teaching which can demonstrate the way for innovative teaching to the students.
