

International Symposium on Lifelong Learning 2011

Keynote Speakers

Mr. Sanjit 'Bunker' ROY

Founder Director,
Barefoot College

Bunker Roy started the Barefoot College 40 years ago in the village of Tilonia in Rajasthan India. It is the only full solar electrified College built by the poor and managed by the poor who earn less than $ 1/day and strongly believes in demystifying education. It is one of the few Colleges in India that practices the life style and work style of Mahatma Gandhi.

Roy has spread the barefoot approach by starting 20 Barefoot Colleges in 13 States of India and in collaboration with the Government of India spread the barefoot philosophy in over 30 of the Least Developed Countries around the world.

In January 2008 The Guardian in London identified Bunker Roy as one of the 50 Environmentalists who could save the world.

In April 2010 TIME magazine recognised Bunker Roy as one of the 100 most influential people in the world.
