

Founded in 1994 and awarded the University title in 2016, The Education University of Hong Kong (EdUHK) is a publicly funded university dedicated to the advancement of learning and teaching, through a diverse offering of academic and research programmes up to doctoral level in teacher education and complementary disciplines, such as the social sciences and humanities. The University aspires to further enhance its role as a leading university in the Asia Pacific region and beyond, with a focus on educational research, development and innovation and recognized for its excellence in nurturing outstanding and caring professionals as well as the impact of scholarship.

The University has an academic/teaching staff strength of about 450 and total student headcount of about 11,000. It has a Graduate School and three Faculties, namely, Faculty of Education and Human Development, Faculty of Humanities, and Faculty of Liberal Arts and Social Sciences, comprising 16 academic departments, as well as various University-level and Faculty-level research and professional development centres. For more information about the University, please visit <http://www.eduhk.hk>.

We are looking for suitable candidates to fill the following positions. If you are excited by the prospect of contributing your expertise to the development of a leading university at the heart of Asia Pacific region and beyond, we would like to hear from you.

Chair Professors / Professors / Associate Professors

The University is seeking to appoint senior academics who are creative, future-oriented with a passion for their work and a willingness to lead teams of bright and young academics towards successful careers and making a positive impact in their communities.

Applicants for Professorship are expected to have a strong publication record, leadership experience, an international reputation and network, and the ability to contribute to collaborative research; applicants for Associate Professorship should be able to demonstrate potential for leadership in research, teaching and service. Some track records of administrative experiences are appreciated. Candidates will be expected to participate in administrative leadership, to secure external funding, to contribute to the strategic development of academic programmes and associated student practicums, to serve the profession at large, and to teach effectively within the university. Applicants should also have an appreciation of the rewards and challenges of working in a multicultural context.

Faculty of Humanities

The Faculty of Humanities comprises four cognate Departments, namely: Chinese Language Studies, English Language Education, Linguistics and Modern Language Studies, and Literature and Cultural Studies.

Applications / Nominations are invited from the following Departments:

Department of Chinese Language Studies

Chinese Language Studies (Ref : CPP/CHL/0219)

Applicants should have a doctoral degree in Chinese Language or a related discipline. The candidates should preferably have expertise in one or more of the following areas: Chinese Language Education; Teaching Chinese as a Second or Foreign Language; and Chinese Linguistics.

Department of English Language Education

English Language Studies (Ref : CPP/ELE/0219)

Applicants should have a doctoral degree in English Language or a related discipline. The candidates should preferably have expertise in one or more of the following areas: Teaching English as a second or foreign language; English Language Education; English as a medium of instruction; Language-in-education policy; and e-English.

Department of Linguistics and Modern Language Studies

Linguistics (Ref : CPP/LML/0219)

Applicants should have a doctoral degree in Linguistics or a related discipline. The candidates should preferably have expertise in one or more of the following areas: second language acquisition; grammar and discourse studies; sociolinguistics; world Englishes; and corpus linguistics.

Department of Literature and Cultural Studies

Literature and Cultural Studies, Post 1 (Ref : CPP/LCS/0219)

Applicants should have a doctoral degree in literary studies, cultural studies, or another humanities discipline. Applicants' professional experience and research expertise should be in one or more of the following areas: world literature, comparative literature, literature and translation, film and media studies, visual and popular culture.

The department particularly welcomes candidates with a demonstrated investment in the role of the humanities inside and outside the university, and who wish to invest in impactful knowledge transfer and community outreach.

Chinese Literature and Cultural Studies, Post 2 (Ref : CPP/LCS/0219)

Applicants should have a doctoral degree in literary studies or a related humanities discipline. Applicants' professional experience and research expertise should be in classical, modern, and/or contemporary Chinese literature and culture, and their areas of interest should complement the document's existing strengths in classical Chinese literature and modern Sinophone literature and culture. Applicants are particularly invited whose breadth of interest extends to the department's other areas of focus, which are in Anglophone literature, cultural studies, and history.

The department particularly welcomes candidates with a demonstrated investment in the role of the humanities inside and outside the university, and who wish to invest in impactful knowledge transfer and community outreach.

For further details on the Faculty of Humanities, please visit the Faculty's website at <http://www.eduhk.hk/fhm/en/index.php>.

Remuneration package will be highly competitive and attractive fringe benefits will be offered.

Applications or nominations with full curriculum vitae and completed application form should be sent to the “Secretary of Strategic Recruitment Search Committee” by email to search@eduhk.hk. Review of applications will start from March 2019, and will continue until the post is filled.

Suitable candidates may be invited to attend a preliminary meeting during the 2019 AERA Annual Meeting at Toronto, Canada in early April 2019. For additional information, please contact Ms. Polly Leung via pollyleung@eduhk.hk well in advance.

Application Form is obtainable from (a) <http://www.eduhk.hk/hro/applyfor.htm>; or (b) the Human Resources Office, 3/F, Cho Kwai Chee Foundation Building, The Education University of Hong Kong, 10 Lo Ping Road, Tai Po, New Territories, Hong Kong. Personal data provided by applicants will be used for recruitment and other employment-related purposes. For details of the Personal Information Collection Statement, please refer to <http://www.eduhk.hk/jobsopp/index.php?glang=en>.

All applications/nominations will be treated in strict confidence. The University reserves the right not to fill the position or to fill the position by invitation. Those who are shortlisted will be contacted. Since the incumbent may engage in work relating to students in schools, prospective employee(s) may be requested to undergo Sexual Conviction Record Check operated by the Hong Kong Police Force.

EdUHK is an Equal Opportunities Employer.

