Research Assistant I (Ref: RAI/PS/0819)
Department of Psychology

The appointee will participate in various research projects related to social and health psychology, particularly in the area of interpersonal relationships and psychological well-being. He/she will be responsible for conducting literature review, preparing test materials, supporting data collection and data analysis, and drafting research reports. He/she also is expected to provide administrative support to the research team. The appointee will have the opportunity to gain insight in how psychological research is conducted and gain first-hand experience by being involved in all stages of the research process. There will be chances for manuscript writing and publications. The experience will be very useful if the appointee is planning to pursue further studies in psychology. The appointment will be for a period of 10 months, with the possibility of renewal subject to mutual agreement.

Applicants should have a Bachelor's degree in Psychology from a recognized university and have enthusiasm, self-motivation, the ability to work independently and under pressure. They should also have some knowledge in research methods and statistics and good communication skills in both written and spoken English and Chinese (Cantonese).

Salary will be commensurate with qualifications and experience.

Initial appointment will be made on a fixed-term contract. Fringe benefits include contract-end gratuity, leave, medical and dental benefits.
