Part II

The University’s Graduate Attributes and seven Generic Intended Learning Outcomes (GILOs) represent the attributes of ideal EdUHK graduates and their expected qualities respectively. Learning outcomes work coherently at the University (GILOs), programme (Programme Intended Learning Outcomes) and course (Course Intended Learning Outcomes) levels to achieve the goal of nurturing students with important graduate attributes.

In gist, the Graduate Attributes for Undergraduate, Taught Postgraduate and Research Postgraduate students consist of the following three domains (i.e. in short “PEER & I”):

- Professional Excellence;
- Ethical Responsibility; &
- Innovation.

The descriptors under these three domains are different for the three groups of students in order to reflect the respective level of Graduate Attributes.

The seven GILOs are:

1. Problem Solving Skills
2. Critical Thinking Skills
3. Creative Thinking Skills
4a. Oral Communication Skills
4b. Written Communication Skills
5. Social Interaction Skills
6. Ethical Decision Making
7. Global Perspectives
1. Course Synopsis

   In the past, Hong Kong has been conceptualized as a transition from a “barren rock” located in the geographical periphery of China to a modernized metropolitan. However, the analysis of the historical process demonstrates that Hong Kong has always been a hub of regional, national and international developments. Before becoming a British colony in the 19th century, intensive movement of population in South China has led to the formation of local society in Hong Kong. Under the foreign administration, Hong Kong flourished as a comprador between East and West that suited well for both China’s quest for modernity and foreign interests in Asia Pacific. Meanwhile, imperialism, Chinese nationalism and political movements in the 20th century not only reinforced the strategic role of Hong Kong but also steered Hong Kong’s transformation to a global financial center as well as the construction of cultural identity. The intertwined relationship between socio-cultural and political aspects of Hong Kong history will be critically examined in comparative contexts.

2. Course Intended Learning Outcomes (CILOs)

   Upon completion of this course, students will be able to:

   - CILO 1 Demonstrate an understanding of the development of Hong Kong;
   - CILO 2 Analyze the significant role played by Hong Kong in local, regional and global historical contexts;
   - CILO 3 Acquire the skills on historical research;
   - CILO 4 Evaluate the dynamics and process of culture and identity construction in Hong Kong history.

Strategic role of Hong Kong in the context of British colonialism, Japan imperialism in east Asia and Cold War. Especially how Hong Kong was conceptualized as a front line in the Cold War confrontation between the communist and the Western capitalist camp.

Immigrants and different ethnic groups moved and eventually settled in Hong Kong since the 19th century. Their communal cultural practices and social services are vital to explore their contributions to the cultural identity construction in Hong Kong.
