Part II

The University's Graduate Attributes and seven Generic Intended Learning Outcomes (GILOs) represent the attributes of ideal EdUHK graduates and their expected qualities respectively. Learning outcomes work coherently at the University (GILOs), programme (Programme Intended Learning Outcomes) and course (Course Intended Learning Outcomes) levels to achieve the goal of nurturing students with important graduate attributes.

In gist, the Graduate Attributes for Sub-degree, Undergraduate, Taught Postgraduate, Professional Doctorate and Research Postgraduate students consist of the following three domains (i.e. in short "PEER & I"):

- Professional Excellence;
- Ethical Responsibility; &
- Innovation.

The descriptors under these three domains are different for the three groups of students in order to reflect the respective level of Graduate Attributes.

The seven GILOs are:

1. Problem Solving Skills
2. Critical Thinking Skills
3. Creative Thinking Skills
- 4a. Oral Communication Skills
- 4b. Written Communication Skills
5. Social Interaction Skills
6. Ethical Decision Making

7. Global Perspectives

1. Course Synopsis

The Latin root of “Govern” means “to direct, to steer and to rule”. In the public sector, the literature and practices suggest that governments in collaboration with different sectors such as non-profit making, NGO and the private sectors can deliver social and public goods. Besides the privatization, contracting out and public-private partnership models that the government can “steer” the society to create public values in the society, co-production with other sectors has emerged recently in which government and co-partners are in the same level playing field. At the same time, the private sector has made use of the “business approach” to address the unmet social needs. Social Entrepreneurship (SE), Corporate Social Responsibility (CSR) and the updated version CSR 2.0 version — Creating Shared Values, and Benefit Corporation (B-Corp) have become the buzzwords in the private sector. Due to the spread of Web 2.0, the boundaries between public and private sectors are getting blurred. The private sector in delivering social goods is also trying to measure social impacts and outcomes which can be created to the clients and stakeholders. The course aims to equip students with the knowledge, skills, attitudes, and strategies to propose service solutions from an interdisciplinary perspective (like policy analysis, private management, social enterprise, and social innovation). Students are expected to develop analytical and critical thinking on policy issues and cultivate civic awareness.

2. Course Intended Learning Outcomes (CILOs)

Upon completion of the course, students will be able to:

- CILO₁: Discover the shortcomings of the government practices in addressing unmet social needs, and how social entrepreneurs can create positive and innovative changes in the social sector for the better using business approaches.
- CILO₂: Examine critically the complexities of social issues and wicked problems (such as the gap between rich and poor, social exclusion and upward mobilities) and acquire “thinking-out-of-the box” mindset to tackle them.
- CILO₃: Design relevant social enterprise projects that incorporate sustainable enterprising strategies to create shared value in the communities.
- CILO₄: Develop systematic monitoring and evaluation methods to measure the social impacts and outcomes bring to the communities and related stakeholders.
- CILO₅: Relate the spirit of social entrepreneurship to community building and develop a sense of civic responsibility.
